

Lieutenant Commander
Lucrecha D. Calleance
Medical Service Corps, United States Navy

Lieutenant Commander Calleance is a native of Kingston Jamaica. She enlisted in the U.S. Navy on September 6, 1994 in Bronx, NY and attended recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, IL. After which she attended Hospital Corps “A” School also in Great Lakes, IL. She was then assigned as a Hospital Corpsman to Naval Medical Center Portsmouth, VA.

Her duty assignments include: Naval Medical Center, Portsmouth, VA (three tours); US Naval Hospital Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico; Naval School of Health Sciences, Portsmouth, VA; Naval Hospital Camp Lejeune, NC; Navy Environmental and Preventive Medicine Unit 2, Norfolk, VA, Expeditionary Medical Facility (EMF) Djibouti Africa, Navy Warfare Development Command, and Navy and Marine Corps Public Health Center.

She served in many capacities to include: Directorate Leading Petty Officer, Electroneurodiagnostic Technician, Leading Chief Petty Officer, Plans, Operations, and Medical Intelligence Officer, Administrative Officer, Healthcare Business Manager, Patient Administration Officer, Department Head, Deputy Director for Administration, and currently as the Officer in Charge of the Navy Medical Administrative Unit and Dental Clinic, Monterey, CA.

Lieutenant Commander Calleance received her BA in Business Administration, Health Care Management concentration from Saint Leo University where she graduated Magna cum Laude and there also completed a Master’s degree in Business Administration. Her personal decorations include the Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal - seven awards, the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal - four gold stars and various service and personal awards.

She is married to Nickey Weddle, Jr. and has two daughters Elizabeth and Anya.