Ready, Set, Healthy!

Transitions in Health Care - Resources with Sesame Street

TUESDAY | APRIL 6 | NOON EST

To ease the stresses of military families' health care transitions, Sesame Workshop created Sesame Street for Military Families: Transitions in Health Care, a host of new resources to support parents, and children through the process. Join us for an overview of these new resources that equip parents with the language and tools they need to maintain consistent care, help health care providers understand military families' needs, and to help children adjust and feel empowered to new health care situations - with a little help from their Sesame Street friends!
